Hi Jim...This case is coming up for trial in the first session at the end of this week, so I wanted to give you the heads up. It will be sent to a trial session, which means it may be backed up behind other cases. I'm trying to work this case out by way of a plea, but just in case, I may need you to testify. There were about a dozen different certificates for the different substances [REDACTED] had in her home (cocaine, oxycodone, a bunch of prescription meds).

I'll keep you posted on any success with a plea or if this will actually be a trial.

Hope all is well.
